

ABSTRACT

An automatic document feeder scanner includes a housing, an automatic document feeder, a predetermined pattern installed on a bottom surface of the automatic document feeder, a scanning module, and a processor capable of analyzing image data of the predetermined pattern and of determining a distance between the scanning module and an ADF scan position.